THE DEATH OF THE PRESIDENT.—The sable mantle which has fallen over the country since the death of President McKinley is especially visible in this city, and throughout the day the event has been the main topic of conversation.

The dispatches of yesterday morning and subsequent ones, of course, had in a measure caused uneasiness, and it was feared that this morning's bulletin would announce the worst.

It was realized that the President was sinking and that the sands of his life were nearly run. Early in the night crowds gathered at points where dispatches were posted, and it was announced that a New York paper had issued an extra stating that the President had expired at 6:15 o'clock.

It was afterwards announced that another dispatch had been received that the sufferer was still alive, but that his recovery was, humanly speaking, impossible. Crowds remained in the streets until a late hour, but nothing to alter the substance of the earlier dispatches was received, and people finally went to their homes, many convinced that the morning papers would appear in mourning. It so happened, and during the wee sma' hours newsmen were rushing from street to street proclaiming the sad intelligence—"Death of the President."

The announcement made early risers of many and as the extras were circulated they were read with avidity. In a short time there was hardly a man, woman or child in the city who was not acquainted with the sad news. As the day wore on numbers of houses were draped with emblems of mourning, while the flags on steamboats and vessels lying in the stream and in the docks were at half-mast.

Mayor Simpson ordered the City Hall to be draped in mourning. Apart from the death of General R. E. Lee there has probably never been manifested more sincere regret at the death of a noted American than has been expressed at the sad story of the assassination of William McKinley.

POLICE COURT.—There were but few spectators of the proceedings of the Police Court this morning, and the cases disposed of were trivial in their nature.

Two men who had been locked up since Thursday night for drunkenness were placed in the dock. They had not been guilty of disorderly conduct, and the Mayor considered their confinement was a sufficient punishment for their offense. He dismissed them with an admonition to the effect that if they continued to get drunk and stumble about the streets in future they would be placed on the chain gang.

A negro named Charles Harper, who had been fined $2.50 for conducting business without a license, was placed on the chain gang for non-payment of the assessment. Yesterday he refused to work and he was locked up on a bread-and-water diet.

The last case was the result of a neighborhood row, started by squabbles among children and culminating in their elders taking a hand. Some of the belligerents had entered a house and assaulted the inmates and a warrant had been sworn out for the arrest of the assailants. The latter, upon hearing of this movement, procured a warrant for the arrest of the plaintiffs on a charge of assault. The Mayor upon hearing the testimony dismissed the second warrant upon the ground that it had been sworn out through retaliatory motives. He then fined one of the parties in the first case (a woman) $2.50.

THE MARKET.—There was a large and tempting display of everything reasonable in market this morning. The attendance of country people and buyers was larger than usual. Prices had not materially fluctuated from those which have prevailed for several weeks past. The butchers had ample supplies of meats and the fish dealers had several varieties of the finny tribe on their benches.

PERSONAL.—Miss Katie Loef will sing a solo at the Railroad Reading Rooms at the service at four o'clock tomorrow evening. This service will be preceded by a song service at 3:50 p. m. Mrs. Sanford Fair is quite sick at her residence on south Patrick street.

Mrs. Delpha Bangs, of Philadelphia, after a six weeks' visit to friends in this city (her old home) returned today.

Miss Katie Uhler has returned from Winchester, where she has been visiting friends.

Miss Corrie and Miss Ethel Corrie, of Alexandria, are the guests of Mrs. Montgomery B. Corrie, at Lexington.

[Rockbridge News.] Mrs. E. E. Eldridge and children have returned to their home in this city.

Miss Ethel Mankin is visiting Mrs. Wm. A. Moore on Prince street.

Rev. Mr. Gilmore, who has been conducting services at the Second Presbyterian Church, left Monday for his home in Staunton.

Mr. D. P. Hurley, formerly agent of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company in this city, has received an appointment as shipping clerk in a large wholesale house in Washington.

OPERA HOUSE.—Many seats for the performance of "A Poor Relation," Sol Smith Russell's great play, next Monday night, have already been reserved. It is not saying too much that the company (which is Sol Smith Russell's own superior organization and rehearsed by him) includes actors superior to those Mr. Russell himself carried in the company.

TEN DOLLARS REWARD.—Complaint was lodged at the station house this morning by Mr. R. F. Robertson, living on south Washington street, that some one had thrown a stick through one of the front windows of his residence last night. He stated that he would give $10 for the arrest and apprehension of the offender.

SPECIAL SALE OF ladies neva undershirts at Schwartz, 518 King street, next week. New styles and beautiful patterns. At the prices they are marked, you can hardly buy the material alone for. This sale is worthy of your attention.

THE CIRCUS advertised to exhibit in this city this afternoon and tonight arrived on time and attracted the attention of many, especially the younger generation. It was a school holiday and the scholars, with "shining morning faces," were out in force watching the pitching of the tents and later the street parade. The big tent, the big elephants, which has been performing in various parts of the country, and wherever it has appeared it has been much enjoyed. The Richmond papers the week spoke very commendatory of the show. Among the specialties on the program for today's exhibition are: Prof. Nibbel's 72 pony pyramid act, Prof. McFann's troupe of dogs, Illipian clown, Com Straub's troupe of dogs and Prof. Wormwood's $10,000 troupe of educated monkeys. There will be two ring and one elevated stage. The menagerie consists of 17 cages of Illipian animals from jungle, forest and sea.

TO CHANGE THE TRACK.—The Southern Railway Company proposes to straighten out many of the curves in the Alexandria and Manassas and lead to several steep grades will be removed. The company is now buying the right of way. The track as laid out will leave Burkes, Ravensworth and Diehl's farms distance away from the track. The proposed change in the route will make a saving of twenty minutes in the run from Washington to Manassas. At the present time there are five or six over Poo's Head. Four of the bridges will be moved to other sites and two more added—making seven in all.

HEBREW NEW YEAR.—At sunset yesterday expired the year 5661, of the Jewish chronology, dating from the creation of the world, and immediately dawned the New Year, and with it the feast of Rosh Hoshana, corresponding exactly to New Year's Day, a time for extending congratulations of the season and of wishing prosperity for the year to come. Services were held in the synagogue in this city, last evening. They were conducted by Rev. Mr. Wise, of Cincinnati, who delivered an impressive discourse. Services were held again this morning.

ASSAILANT HELD.—John W. Gandy, colored, charged with robbing George W. Taylor of a pocket valued at $9 and $1 in cash, yesterday was held in $500 bonds to await the action of the grand jury of the District of Columbia. Taylor is a druggist of Front Royal and went to Washington last Sunday. Tuesday night he met Gandy and took a number of drinks with him. The pair finally got into a park, and Taylor claims, Gandy held him up at the point of a pistol and took his goods from him.

RIVER NOTES.—The steamer Dennis Simmons, from Wilmington, N. C., arrived today with shingles to smooth & Co.

The barge Daniel, loaded with lumber by H. K. Field & Co. for Glynn, left today.

Three barges went by V. A. Smoot & Co.'s wharf this morning leading fertilizer from the Alexandria Fertilizer and Chemical Company for points on the C. & O. canal.

CHAMBERLAIN'S Cough Remedy a Great Favorite.

The soothing and healing properties of this remedy, its pleasant taste and prompt and permanent cures have made it a great favorite with people everywhere. Park Agnew, Chairman State Republican Committee, Alexandria, Va.: Dear Sir: Your letter of September 6 was presented to the democratic State central committee at its meeting held in this city yesterday, and I was instructed to inform you that the committee declines your invitation for the discussion of the issues of the pending campaign between our respective candidates.
